“ I knew Carol from our mutual employment at Roger William's Medical Center. We became fast friends. If I thought she was brave during her first illness, she was a pillar of bravery this second time. I admired her as a great coworker and loved her as the terrific person she was. We shared a love of animals, especially our cats and I was lucky enough to meet the infamous Max and Caesar recently. I know Carol is at peace knowing her beloved animals are being well taken care of. I shall miss you. I was honored to be your friend. Robin V

“ Oh no! I am so heartbroken to hear this. Carol was an amazing woman and a great friend especially during some large transition times in my life. We shared a love of cats and I'm honored to have met her beloved Caesar. We stayed at her house a few times on trips north. I wish we had kept better touch these past few years, as we used to talk all the time online. My heart breaks knowing we won't have any more "meezer musings" or "cat chats". Thank you, Carol, for your friendship.
