“ Auntie Andrea.....I have so many great memories.....her pulling out the sofa bed, all of us kids piling in and watching the "forbidden" Dark Shadows with her late at night, way past our bedtime.....her driving a car full of us cousins to Marv's store, she'd send us in with money to buy her cigarettes and get a candy treat for ourselves (no ID needed in those days).....playing baseball in the backyard with her.....Dancing to music from her days and her teaching us the dances like the wave, the hitch hiker, the locomotion, the pony, we had so much fun dancing with her.....Stephanie disappearing, she was in a panic, all kids were frantically trying to find her, she was hiding behind a cemetery stone in the next door cemetery scared to death because of all us loudly freaking out..... sleepovers in the big bedroom, we'd have to pat Stephanie's back FOREVER until she finally fell asleep.....Suzanne playing with her Sears and Roebuck cut out people in her bedroom.....Auntie Andrea cutting the corn off of a TON of corn cobs to process for the freezer and letting us snag an ear to munch on whenever we wanted, Sheryl ate more than the rest of us, she was in diapers and oh what a messy diaper, none of us would change it for Auntie Andrea.....the swing at the clothes line.....coming home from the laundry mat, going into the house and her screaming and rushing us back into the car because there was a mountain line in the house that got in through the window that was left open for the pregnant cat (YIKES), it took off back out the window into the back yard and then to the big forest.....lots of hugs, I always knew she loved me.....her laugh, I can still hear it.....letting us "big girls" take care of Stephanie and Sheryl, dressing them, bathing them, changing diaper (the real cloth ones!), putting them down for naps and bedtime, I learned a lot about taking care of a little one from her.....She was a wonderful Auntie and such a loving mom, I love you Auntie Andrea, may you rest in peace and embrace Bryan with your love. With love, Donna
