“ Annette and I were neighbors and friends in So. Killingly. Chase and Mr son played sports and were in day care together. Our families spent much time together. Annette was a good friend, resource, sounding board and support. She tried very hard to achieve the goals she set, and be the person she chose to be. Her laugh could be infectious, her heart very generous, her family her first commitment. She was a key support during a very difficult time in my life. Over the last several years we lost touch. She remained in my thoughts and prayers. I am sorry to her friends and family for her loss. My you fine peace my friend.

“ I will always remember Annette as a force of nature. She was always moving alway running late for the next thing she needed to do. It did not matter what the current focus was in her life at any given time she was 100% committed to it. This was particularly true when it came to her son. She craved motherhood and when she was blessed with her son she glowed. I remember her bringing him with her when she would deliver her Avon products to my mom. Chase would be with her and as we cooed over him, she would share each of his new milestones. Her heart and her personality overflowed the bounds of her body and when she left promising to be back soon, it was like the air left with her.
