Her final days reflected a well-lived life filled with laughter, joy, and profound love, surrounded by her devoted spouse, children, and grandchildren. Cheryl, born on June 3, 1964, in Boston, Massachusetts, was the beloved daughter of the late Charles Averett and Cynthia Pine. Cheryl leaves behind her loving spouse, Kenneth Williams of Woonsocket; her children Keon Averett of Smithfield, Taishia Castillo Robinson of Greenwood, and Jamel Williams of Pascoag, and her cherished bonus children, whom she loved as her own: Yvonne Castillo, Garrett Williams, Ebony Williams, Kenneth Williams, and Kyle Williams. She also leaves behind Jamie Meadows, the mother of her first grandson, whom she embraced as a daughter.

In addition, Cheryl is survived by her children-in-law: Casandra Averett, Iwata Robinson, and Amanda Russell; her brother, Charles Averett; her sisters, Angel Mclean and Donna Harvey; her best friends, Carol and Louis (Gavino) Brice; and her lifelong friend, Harry Castillo. She is further survived by her sisters by love, Melanie Williams and Darlene Jeffreys, along with many cherished grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and friends.

She was preceded in death by her son, Donald "Dee" Averett; her parents, Cynthia Pine and Charles Averett; her siblings, Johnny, Renee, and Roslyn Averett; her nieces, Karissa Dias and Lataunya Wilson; her nephew, Lino Castillo-Cook; her godchildren, Louis and Silvia Brice; along with many other beloved relatives and friends.

Cheryl's vibrant spirit, boundless love, and unforgettable presence left a lasting impression on everyone she encountered. Her legacy of love, strength, and joy will continue to live on in the hearts of all who had the privilege to know her, bringing comfort and reassurance that her memory will continue to bring joy and warmth.

“ I always honored Cheryl as one of the Williams sisters. My sister-in-law was a firecracker, full of spunk and tenacity in that little frame, sweet as can be, but don't test that spunk. She loved my brother, her children, her grandchildren and the Williams family deeply. She loved being at family functions and watching us act up, playing cards, laughing and just loving on each other. She was profoundly fond of her father-in-law Mr Henry Williams Sr. who she affectionately called "Her Poppie" and would be seen giving her winnings from the card game to only him. He loved her like one of his daughters because she was. I will miss her on this side. Rest-Well Sis... You fought a hard battle and picked up your wings for your journey home...

“Aunty !!! I'm kinda lost of words right now . You are my twin I'm your birthday gift. Your one of the reason I hustle the way I do . You taught me the meaning of the words death before dishonor. You are one of my partners in crime. I told you everything about me and no matter what rather I was right or wrong you stood by me . I always checked in with you from time to time . I feel as if I really drop the ball this time because I didn't know what you were going through and by time I found out it was too late. The last time I spoke with you you told me you were proud of me and you love me and I told you I love you too and that I'm not done yet . I wanted you to see me cross the finish line in the entertainment industry. I ask you to come to Los Angeles with me along with others so I could show you what your love and motivation has helped me achieve . Just know aunty I will always love you . I know tomorrow not promised to anyone and we all have a date at some point so I must accept reality but it is a hard reality not easy . I keep hearing a song by my favorite artist and the queen of Rock n Roll Tina Turner “ Dancing In My Dreams” it helps me at times like this . Do I say goodbye or do I say I'll see you later . Aunty you are a big piece of my heart . So many great memories I'm not ready to say goodbye so I guess I'll say good night sleep well Taishia, your mother was beautiful and she raised you to be the beautiful, bold and determined young lady that you are. I'm sure she was very proud of who you have become and all that you have achieved. I wish I were near to hug and hold you during this time. Bless you and your family during this difficult time.
