May 16, 2024

Jennifer Bourne, 56 of North Scituate, RI passed away peacefully on May 16, 2024 surrounded by her family.

Jennifer was born on June 2, 1967 to Vivianne Mancini and Roger Masse in Woonsocket RI. After Jennifer graduated from North Smithfield High School amidst the start of her Hodgkin's fight, she went on to graduate from Katherine Gibbs.

In spite of her lifelong battle with cancer and late effects of her treatment of Hodgkin's Disease; Jennifer worked, lived and loved as much as she could and she certainly fought the good fight. She was a lover of animals and people. She could make a friend in five minutes anywhere she went. Jennifer strived to teach and educate friends, doctors and anyone else she could about the late effects of cancer and cancer treatment. She was a lifelong advocate for many including herself. There are truly not enough words to describe the wonderful woman, daughter, wife, niece, cousin, mother and grandmother she was. Jennifer left a mark on everyone in her life and she will be carried on forever in memory and love.

Jennifer was predeceased by her Grandparents Vivianne and Antonio Ethier. She is survived by her Mother Vivianne Mancini, her Husband Michael Bourne, her Daughters Loren Bourne, Elena Bourne, Emilie Carbone and her Husband Stephen, her son Corey Bourne and his wife Carmen, her grandchildren Aiden and Armani, her Aunts Jeanne Ethier and Lucille Delannoy. “ It saddens us to hear of Jen’s passing. I remember her as part of a great group of No Smithfield kids. Chance meetings with her during her cancer battle always left me amazed with her positive outlook and love of life. My last encounter in late fall was a shout out from her in a market in Johnston. Her ability to leave you caught up on the life she accepted as the reality of her long battle did not overshadow the joy she focused on. Rest well the Depault’s

“ I met Jen in Holliston years ago at Kamala Boutique...she always had the most beautiful big smile on her face even during the most difficult times in her life. She was funny, inspiring, warm, caring and creative. She had a wonderful sense of style and flair when it came to her many “hair”styles, accessories and appearance. She embraced life on life’s terms and put her best self forward every step of the way in her journey. We shared many conversations about the love of animals in our lives, life, family, health, illness, perseverance and the importance of faith and how to remain positive no matter what. She cherished her husband Michael, daughter Emilie and grandson Aiden as well as other family members. She loved big and was loved by many. I am honored to have crossed paths in this life with her, I am blessed to call you my friend in this life. I will miss you but will never forget you.

“ I can't say that I have talked in person to Jen since high school, but seeing her up on Facebook and fighting the good fight, I could not help but stop and admire her heroism and heart. I was behind her in her battle for years up here and it is with a heavy heart that I read she had passed. She showed me what it was to face your battle head on and always - always look for the positive. Tina Esposito Slade

“ The first time I met Jenn was for her to take a lap as a survivor with my first year in remission! Was at the Burrillville Middle School Relay for Life! Her smile and fight inspired me through the years in my own health battles!
My prayers and thoughts are with her family! May you Fly High with no more pain anymore!
