There are no words to express the loss John's family feels at his passing. He touched many lives in his time on earth, and would have given the shirt off his back to help anyone in need. He was an incredible and devoted father and grandfather whose family was his pride and joy. John enjoyed the simple things in life. A special thanks from John's family to Frank Hopkins and the late Pat Blicher of Harrisville, Rhode Island. Their friendship had a special place in John's heart. A special thanks also to John's local Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, whose members have been there for John and his family in their most difficult times.
