“ Liz,
Saying I am so sorry or time will help feels, and you know I understand, feels so incongruous. The only thing I suggest is to BREATHE. It was the only words I understood because every else felt suggested to me felt like...ARE YOU KIDDING ME?! You have no clue nor understand the depths of my loss. I am terribly upset about this world losing such a wonderful boy, a fearless young man, to whom I remember my son Gregory and him climbing a rock wall at Greenwood School at 6 years old....being fearless and so brave, being the only ones to reach the top and ring the bell at the top of the tower.
All I think of what you are going through could be any parent. Rich, poor...it does not matter nor discriminate. Please know I am praying for you, my beautiful Joey's Soul, and those who knew his true colors. My thoughts and prayers are with you. Liz, please know, we KNEW who Joey was. He will always have a place in our hearts. As do you.

*Prayers and Love,
Jennifer Eldridge*
