

William E. Ford

October 13, 2025

William E. Ford, 67 of West Warwick, Rhode Island, passed away Monday, October 13, 2025 surrounded by loved ones.

William was the son of the late Madeline (Stanley) Ford and Joseph C. Ford of West Warwick, Rhode Island.

He was predeceased by his siblings Albert Ford, Carol Kindberg, Joe Ford and Joseph Ford.

He is survived by his sons William J. Ford and Dylan J. Ford, his daughter Holly A. Ford, four grandchildren and one fur baby Sushi. He also leaves his siblings, Shirley Handy, Joyce Ullucci, Deborah McKenna, Henry Ford, Madeline Auger, Richard Ford, Kathy Chase, Charlie Ford and Susan Poncin.

William was an avid music lover and an accomplished musician. He was found happiest while playing his guitar with and for his family and friends. He was a man of many careers, most notably his time as a long distance truck driver with his late brother Joe and late father, as well as a long career of painting with his best friend, Nate. He also enjoyed gardening, fishing, cooking, spending time with his family and the simple pleasure of an ice cold beer.

May his words remind us to cherish each day:

“I can apologize, for all the things I’ve done wrong in my life. But I can’t change them, yesterday is gone, tomorrow is not here, today is a present. A gift, live for today, everywhere I go, and everywhere I’ve been, my children, my family and friends, are in my thoughts and prayers. With love and peace, thank God.” - William E. Ford

A Celebration of Life will be announced at a later date.

I will always remember the good times Bill. All the joy that your music brought to the people around you. The time we had together was filled with much joy and many wonderful times and friends. Fly high, be at peace and keep playing your music and singing your songs in heaven. Loved and missed always, Debra Lee
